The honors for Champion fishing at Capitola last week were given to a little lad not quite four years of age, and a Campbell boy at that, Master Mayno Eddleman. BOHNETT MAKES FINE RECORD

Entire Community Proud of the Record Made by Its Representative in the Assembly and Will Work for His Return

L. D. Bohnett, who so ably represented the 56th district in the assembly during the last session of the legislature, has been announced as a candidate for re-election, subject to the republican primaries on August 16. If the voters of the district are alive to their best interests Bohnett will be returned to his seat with an overwhelming majority.

Seldom, if ever, has this district been represented by so able, industrious and honest an assemblyman as L. D. Bohnett. Though a new member at the opening of the last session it was not many weeks before he became recognized as one of the leaders of the independent and progressive element in the legislature, a position of leadership which he will retain and which will make him a real force in the legislature of 1911 if he is re-elected. He is a man who makes friends, a man who is able to think clearly and to give a good account of himself in debate or any other legislative situation, a tireless worker, (frequently working into the early hours of the morning over pending legislation), and absolutely honest,—a combination that is hard to duplicate.

Bohnett's platform is one that should appeal to every voter in the district. It is clear cut and progressive and proves our assemblyman to be independent of corporate and reactionary influences.

Among the bills introduced by Bohnett which he succeeded in having enacted into law was one providing for a state budget, requiring the state controller to prepare a statement, before the opening of each session of the legislature of all appropriations to be asked for during the session, the controller to get the necessary information from the superintendents of the various state institutions and members of the legislature. By this means all members of the legislature and the people of the state will be informed in the beginning as to the money to be asked for during the session and the legislators can act intelligently upon the bills. Heretofore there has been no tabulation of appropriation bills and no one, except a few members of the Ways and Means Committee, knew how much money was provided for in the various bills and consequently appropriations were made without question. Under the Bohnett bill, however, raids on the state treasury will be extremely difficult and thousands of dollars annually will undoubtedly be saved to the taxpayers. Other money saving laws secured by Bohnett were one doing away with the copying of the great register, a useless custom requiring the services of extra deputy county clerks all over the state, and a law reducing the number of ballots required for each polling place, thus saving thousands of dollars for paper and printing at each election.

In the "Story of California Legislature of 1909," a history of the last session written by Franklin Hichborn of Santa Clara (a book every voter should read—on sale at Millards in San Jose and Aldermans in Santa Clara), the author gives a detailed account of the fight over the enactment of the direct primary bill and other reform measures showing that Bohnett was in the front rank of the progressive members at all times. In Hichborn's table of the "Forty Members Making Best Records" on eleven test votes, Bohnett is given first place, he being one of fourteen who made a perfect score.

While we believe that no man should vote for his neighbor simply because he is his neighbor but should always vote for the man best qualified for the office, we take special pride in recommending L. D. Bohnett, from the fact that he was born and brought up in this community. As a boy he was clean in his habits and was one of the hardest workers in the community. After working several years in his father's orchard he entered the Campbell Union High School and completed the four years course in two years, going then to the University of California, where he was graduated with high honors with the class of 1906. After post graduate work at Stanford he was deputy County Clerk for several months before beginning the practice of law. As a lawyer he has shown the same industry and honesty that characterized him before and has already won an enviable position at the bar. He is unusually well prepared for legislative work by temperament, study and experience and should be re-elected.

Mrs. Swope Passes Away after Lingering Illness

Bereavement was again brought to this community by the passing away of one of its most beloved and respected women, Mrs. Sarah Swope, who died last Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Swope had been ill for many months, but after being taken to the home of Mrs. D. H. Coates on First street some few weeks ago her condition became much improved. After a short time she began to decline and became gradually worse until death brought relief.

Mrs. Sarah Ann Swope was 64 years, 5 months and 14 days of age. She was born at Hornell, New York, where she resided until 1896 when she came to California to live. Her maiden name was Amidon and she was married twice, her first husband being Robert Dawson who died at Hornell, N. Y., in 1888. She was later married to W. H. Swope who died in Campbell in 1906. She left no children. One sister, Mrs. Horace W. Rice of Fruitvale, Cal., and two brothers, Hecter and Henry Amidon of Hornell, N. Y., survive her. Mrs. Swope lived at Campbell for about ten years. She was much beloved and her many friends will miss her kindly face and greeting.

The funeral was held at the Methodist Episcopal church, of which she was a devoted member, last Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, the pastor, Rev. J. F. Wilson conducted the services. The interment was at Oak Hill Cemetery. A large number of friends attended the services and the great quantity of flowers and floral offerings attested their warm affection for the decease... The pallbearers were, S. R. Wade, C. H. Whitman, John F. Duncan, J. H. Campbell, Judge Scott and S. G. Rodeck.

SUMMARY OF PAST WEEK'S COAST NEWS

Interesting Events Among Our Neighbors in the Far West Reviewed.

What Has Transpired on the Border of the Broad Pacific From Alaska to Mexico.

Alameda.—Miss Bessie Hill is dead from a pin scratch, which resulted in blood poisoning. The girl used a pin to pick a pimple on her face.

Stockton.—After struggling for several minutes in a heroic effort to save Martin Rossa, his best friend, from a watery grave Alva Leonard, clutched in a vise-like grip of his companion, sank in Old river.

Hayward.—As the result of the purchase of nearly 1000 feet more fire hose and the installation of additional fire extinguishers about the principal business blocks, Haywards fire insurance rates will be lowered.

Stockton.—A denatured alcohol plant is soon to be added to local industries, and the scene of its operations will be the delta region west of Stockton. The plant will be of the German type, and will be designed to utilize waste products, particularly potato culls.

Los Angeles.—Instead of $50,000, Dr. J. W. Trueworhty will receive $15,000 for medical services rendered "Lucky" Baldwin during his last illness. The amount was reduced by the probate court after the executor and his attorney had protested that the fee was exorbitant.

Fresno.—Fire, which is supposed to have started in the town's hotel from a pipe carelessly laid aside by a smoker, practically destroyed the entire business section of Laton, only a store and a saloon being left standing. The loss is estimated at $75,000, only one-third of which is covered by insurance.

Oakland. — A State auxiliary fair will be held in Oakland immediately following the State fair at Sacramento. The fair will be held at Idora Park from September 17th to September 24h, and will be given under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce in conjunction with the State Agricultural Society.

Sacramento.—This city will have another bond election for $666,000 for the erection of a filtration plant to clarify the water of the Sacramento river, from which the city water works now serves the city with a mud-brown hue drinking fluid. Bonds were defeated by a narrow margin at an election held several months ago

Oakland.—Eight new dining cars and two new baggage cars for the Western Pacific have been received here. They will be stored until passenger service on the line is opened on August 7. More rolling stock is expected soon from Salt Lake, the company aiming to have sufficient equipment on hand to run two through trains on the opening day.

Fresno.—A petition containing the names of local vineyardists representing 22,000 acres and including also the names of over 100 Fresno business men was presented to the Board of Supervisors, giving formal notice that henceforth all temperance agitations will be fought. The signers state that the wine grape industry is being injured by the onslaught of the temperance workers.

San Francisco.—The contest for Queen and Maids of Honor of the Admission Day, 1910, Festival, to take place in this city on the 8th, 9th and 10th of September, is now being held all over the State. Votes from the interior of the State must be mailed to the secretary of the Admission Day 1910 Festival, 1050 Phelan building, where full information concerning the contest may be obtained. The list of candidates already received indicates a lively interest.

Oakland.—Just able to be about, after having been laid up for several months with a broken leg, Fred Howard, a San Bernardino man, who has been in a hospital here, disjointed the old fracture by trying to take his first drink after his long confinement. On crutches he entered a thirst emporium. The crutches slipped on the tiled floor, allowing Howard to fall and rebreak the leg He had used up nearly all his funds in treatment for the first accident, so was forced to go to the County Infirmary.

MACHINES OUST WOMEN AT SAN FRANCISCO MINT

Thirty-Five Old-Time Employes Give Place to New Invention.

San Francisco.—Thirty-five women civil service employes, some of whom have worked in the United States mint in this city for a quarter of a century, must go out into the world and find new jobs. Their places have been taken by three machines recently brought here from the East, which hereafter wi,l weigh all the gold and silver that is coined in San Francisco.

Uncle Sam has been trying for years to increase the capacity of his mints and at the same time reduce the operating expenses. Recently an inventor named Lambert, assistant superintendent of machinery at the Philadelphia mint, produced a machine that will count 40,000 pieces a day or $800,000 in gold coin. Lambert has been here about two weeks, installing three of these machines, which were put to work for the first time Monday morning.

The machines are six feet long and four feet high. They are equipped with 10 feeders each, in which the coins are placed. The feeders are kept full by the operator, a man. With incredible rapidity the coins are dropped into a basket, weighed and thrown out. If they are ever so slightly overweight, they are thrown into one receptacle; if ever so light, into another, and if standard are ready for stamping and reweighing. It has been found necessary to have the machines operated by men because of their mechanical delicacy and the necessity for removing heavy boxes of coins.

Caterpillars Killing Trees.

Washington.—Shade trees of Washington, famed for their number and beauty, are undergoing an attack from a horde of caterpillars. The trees are being stripped of their foliage rapidly. So numerous are the pests that they have baffled the caretakers' efforts to cope with them. Property owners have joined in the attempts to repel the invaders, but it seems that there is little chance to prevail against them. Some fears for the very lives of the trees are expressed.

Mine Yields Fabulous Ore.

Alleghany.—One of the richest and most sensational strikes ever made in a gold mine in Sierra county occurred at the Tightner mine a few days ago. Samples were shown in town of ore that is two-thirds arsenical sulphites and will assay from 40 to 70 per cent pure gold. One sample weighed two pounds, while chunks of ore are being taken from this vein as large as water buckets. A shot uncovered the chute of free gold-bearing ore two feet wide.

Customs Receipts Reach New Mark.

Washington.—A statement prepared at the Treasury Department by Acting Secretary Hilles shows that the customs receipts for the fiscal year 1910 amounted to $333,043,800. For the greater part of the year the Payne-Aldrich tariff law was in force, and Hilles said the receipts were the largest for any year in the history of the Government. The receipts for 1909 were $300,000,000.

Russia Says America is to Blame.

Berlin.—The Tageszeitung says that the Russo-Japanese treaty is the result of the policy of the United States, which forced Russia into the Japanese camp. In the event of a crisis between Japan and the United States the former country will have Russian friendship, whereas Great Britain could not and would not side against the United States.

Britons Pay High for Royalty.

London.—The select committee of Parliament to consider the civil list for King George V recommends a provision of $3,170,000 yearly for the maintenance of the royal family. This is an increase of $65,000 over the allowance made during the last reign.

Seventeen Jiggers Killed Him.

New York.—Peter Smith, a husky young tannery worker in Newark, N. J., drank 17 jiggers of whisky in succession, thereby winning a bet of $1. As he pocketed the money he fell to the floor unconscious and died soon after in a hospital.

One-Legged Ball Tosser.

Honolulu.—Honolulu has a curiosity in the athletic line in the person of a one-legged baseball pitcher. He is Kailwai, a native boy, who twirls for the industrial school nine. In a recent game he struck out nine and figured in a double play.

Money for Suffragettes.

London.—On the trip across on the steamship Lusitania Senator Depew presided at a meeting of 50 passengers at which $1500 was subscribed for the suffragette cause.

Moving Fight Pictures Barred From Scores of Cities

San Francisco.—The agitation against the reproduction of the pictures of the fight at Reno has assumed the proportion of a national crusade. The officers of the National Christian Endeavor Society at Boston appealed by telegraph to the Governor of every State and to the Mayor of every large city to stop the pictures. The response from all sections of the country was instantaneous. There were, of course, some exceptions. Mayor Gaynor of New York looked upon the movement as a joke. The Mayor of one city—in Missouri, of course—said that he would not interfere, and not only that, but he wanted his boys to see the fight.

The moving picture people paid nearly $200,000 for the rights to take the pictures at Reno. Jack Johnson sold his rights for $50,000, Jeffries got $66,666 and Tex Rickard $33,333.

The owners of the pictures themselves admit that the agitation over the outcome of the fight has already depreciated the value of the films by at least 40 per cent, and that there was no way of telling what havoc it would eventually work with their financial interests.

The fight pictures are controlled by a trust and a group of independents, which contested for outright ownership among themselves until they were brought together. William Rock, the trust representative, purchased the one-third interest of Jeffries and the one-sixth interest of "Tex" Rickard. The Independents, headed by Thomas O'Day, represent the interest of Jack Gleason and Jack Johnson. Gleason did not sell his rights, but is to be in charge of a central office that will direct the distribution of the pictures from New York. Jack Lodge, theatrical manager for 25 years, secured the options for O'Day. O'Day refused $150,000 for his interest in the pictures a week before the fight and claimed at the the time that he could have disposed of them for $250,000. With the agitation that has attended the outcoume of the fight, however, it's a vastly different story.

Expert Man-Hunter Tells How Quarry Can Be Caught

New York.—Mrs. Mary J. Wakeman-Saunders-Powers-Godfrey-Gay-Lindley-Crowthers-Leppage, who has been married eight times, has promulgated a series of rules on "How to Woo a Man." Here are the primal principles:

At 18 a girl should be confiding, dependent, helpless.

At 21 show that you know the world. Assert yourself.

At 23 lead them gently on to do the wooing.

At 24 make the course of true love as smooth as possible.

At 27 she must meet him more than half way.

At 30—well, be bold, but not too bold.

Mrs. Leppage ought to know something about how to get and hold a man's affections. She has had as husbands a clerk, a railroad official, a grocer, a restaurant proprietor, a capialis, a hotel keeper. The men who had been led by her to the altar have been of all varieties—rich, poor, fat, lean, young and old. She became a bride at 14 and has been a bride eight times since then.

Thomas Crowthers, husband No. 2, is suing her to recover $100,000 worth of property he says she has got by getting him intoxicated.

Speaking of her matrimonial experiences Mrs. Leppage says:

"I have always believed each time I married that I should be happy, and I don't yet despair. One thing I have learned—the only way to find out what a man really is is to try him. And the only way to try him is by marriage."

Great Demand for Horses and Mules to Harvest Crops

Stockton.—The owners of horses and mules are reaping the greatest profits from the animals this year ever known in this section. A pair of these animals can be rented for $2.50 a day of eight hours, and the farmers are more than pleased to get the stock at this price, owing to their great scarcity at this time. Usually $1.25 a day for a span of work horses or mules was considered a good price.

This scarcity is due to the large number of animals being used on road work throughout San Joaquin county, where many miles of macadam thoroughfares are being constructed under the bonding act. The contractors had to search the entire county to secure a sufficient number of mules and horses to carry out their contracts. During the past three years hundreds of horses and mules have been shipped from here to the islands and to Government stations for the cavalry.

The fact that the harvest is in full swing and that the crops are unusually large this year adds to the demand for the stock, and many of the farmers will have to wait until their neighbors finish threshing before they can house their crops.

45,000,000 Eggs Cold-Stored For Winter Prices

Chicago.—The hens of Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and Ohio have since April laid 45,000,000 eggs for the cold storage man, according to the farmers who have sold their product to the representatives of the Chicago cold storage houses. South Water street commission merchants admit that the warehouse men have canvassed four States for the last three months, buying fresh eggs from the farmers and egg commissioners.

Millions of eggs bought by the cold storage representatives will not be put on the Chicago markets for sale until there is a scarcity. The eggs were purchased from the farmers at an average price of 23½ to 24 cents a dozen. Two cents a dozen is added to cover insurance, storage costs, etc., which brings the total cost up to about 26 cents a dozen.

If the eggs can be retailed in Chicago next winter at 45 cents a dozen, at which they were sold last winter, there will be a profit to the cold storage men of 19 cents a dozen, or a total of something over $8,000,000.

Automobiles Drive Stork From Prosperous Kansas

Topeka, Kas.—Are Kansas mothers kept so busy with their automobiles that they haven't time for babies?

This seems to be the case. The statistics gathered by the State Board of Health show a decrease of 2130 babies born in 1909 from the number born in 1908.

"I am ashamed of the record," said E. T. Fairchild, who has just completed the school census statistics for the present school year. "While we should feel proud that the average Kansas farmer is prosperous enough to own an automobile, it is deplorable that with the advent of the 'bubble' wagon births should begin falling off."

In 1907 there were 25,990 babies born in Kansas. In 1908 the baby crop was 25,980, a decrease of 10. The total for 1909 was 23,850, a decrease of 2130 for the year.

SAN FRANCISCO IS WORLD'S FOREMOST CONVENTION CITY

Many Meetings That Are to Be Held Will Benefit Whole State.

San Francisco.—Next year San Francisco will be known as the convention city of the United States. The following large gatherings are scheduled to meet here:

National Educational Association will meet in July, and it is estimated will attract 20,000 people to this city.

International Sunday School Convention, with delegates from all over the world, will meet in July. Delegates to the Bishops' Convention and the Bible Society, which meet in Los Angeles just before this congress, will attend the Sunday School Convention.

American Agricultural Soceity will meet in January.

To be secured: Eagles' National Convention for 1911, which will attract 50,000 people. This year's convention meets in Omaha.

Other smaller conventions have determined on San Francisco as the meeting place for 1911, as a result of the efforts of the San Francisco Convention League.

Many of the visitors will undoubtedly visit different parts of the State after the meetings are concluded, sightseeing or for the purpose of locating homes. Hundreds of thousands of dollars will be spent and the State and its products and resources will be advertised in every part of the world.

Spent Too Much for Election.

Franklin, Pa.— Court proceedings have been instituted here to bring about an auditing of the expense account Joseph C. Sibley, who makes affidavit to having spent $40,000 to secure the Republican nomination for Congress in the Twenty-eighth Pennsylvania district. The object is to invalidate the nomination of Mr. Sibley. The law under which the proceedings were instituted also provides that any person violating it shall be subject to a fine of not less than $25 nor more than $1000 and imprisonment for not less than one month nor more than two years, either or both at the discretion of the court.

Former Cotton King Fined by Court.

White Plains, N. Y.—Daniel Sully, long known as the "cotton king," was fined $3800 for contempt of court by Justice Mills of the State Supreme Court. The case grew out of Sully's failure when William Marmon Black obtained a court order restraining Sully from paying out any money until the suit between them had been settled. Black contended that Sully had committed contempt in paying $4600 to his wife after the order had been issued.

Californians Buy Louisiana Swamps.

San Francisco.—A group of capitalists has just completed the purchase of 300,000 acres of swamp land in Louisiana. The land will be drained and then colonized. It is the intention of the promoters of the enterprise to introduce dairying into the South. It is their contention that the swamp areas, after proper treatment, will yield abundant crops of alfalfa, the plant that makes the milk.

Yosemite Stage Falls Over Cliff.

Yosemite.—A four-horse stage coach carrying 11 passengers bound for El Portal, the gateway of the Yosemite National Park, went over a cliff into the Merced river, a fall of 100 feet, Sunday. One man and three women were carried down with the stage and injured seriously. The other passengers and the driver jumped in time. Two horses were killed.

Arbitrators Favor Telegraphers.

Toronto, Ontario.—Increase of wages from 25 to 30 per cent, a shorter workday, better classification, promotion for merit and service, have been awarded the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway telegraphers by the Board of Conciliation appointed two months ago.

Panama is Peaceful.

Washington.—The President of Panama, in an autograph letter addressed to President Taft, announces that the conditions now existing in the Panama republic are satisfactory. Some excitement had been feared as an outgrowth of the recent election.

Woman Faces Serious Charge.

WEEK'S DOINGS OF THE WORLD BRIEFLY TOLD

News From All Points of the Compass by Wire and by Wireless.

Important Events From Oyster Bay to Mombasa Presented in Pithy Paragraphs.

Washington.—Assisant Secretary of State Adee returned to his duites here last week after making a tour of portions of Europe on a bicycle

Kansas City.—Miss Ruby Hirsch, aged 22 years, was shot and fatally injured by Edward Baker, a contractor, 47 years of age, at her home here because she had failed to keep a luncheon engagement with him.

Washington.—Latest figures available at the Treasury show the amount paid on account of the corporation tax is $21,714,806. This does not include payments made to collectors of internal revenue, which have not yet reached the department.

Chicago.—Absolute prohibition of the sale and use of fireworks in Chicago has been recommended to the city government by Fire Marshal Horan. He said: "I am convinced that the only sane celebration is the celebration without fireworks of any sort."

Berlin.—The situation of the Jews at Kiev is becoming worse. The hostile mob is becoming dangerous at Slobodskoi, a suburb of Vyatka. Organized bands frequently attack the Israelites. The Jewish population is terrorized in all quarters by threats and abuse.

Chester, Pa.—Baptist institutions and societies are to receive $95,000 by the will of Samuel A. Crosor, the millionaire manufacturer, who died recently. With the exception of the bequests to the church, the rest of the estate, estimated at several millions, is given to relatives.

Macomb, Ill.—R. G. Hurrguth of Michigan, who fell from a trapeze while making a balloon ascension at a Fourth of July celebration at Bushnell, died a few days later. Hurrguth made the ascension from the center of the business section. The trapeze caught in a tree and was torn loose.

Washington.—A decrease in circulation per capita of 49c on July 1st, as compared with a year ago, is shown by the latest Treasury statement on that subject. On July 1, 1909, the amount each man, woman and child in the United States would have were all the money equally divided, was $35.01; July 1, 1910, it was $34.52.

Vincennes, Ind.—A blind horse, frightened by the explosion of a cannon, ran away, threw its driver, Wayne Bunting, out of the buggy, probably fatally injuring him, plunged through the window of the home of Mrs. Anna Dugger, and fell on a bed on which Mrs. Dugger and her daughter were sleeping. Mrs. Dugger and her daughter were seriously bruised.

Beverly.—The Highways Committee completed its investigation into the accident in which Robert Taft, son of the President, ran down with an automobile Di Gregordio, a laborer. The commissioners decided that young Taft was in no way responsible for the accident and may have an automobile license as soon as he cares to apply for it. Di Gregordio is rapidly recovering.

Washington.— The grain crops in Montana and the western portion of the Dakotas which are not receiving irrigation are literally dried up, according to a statement issued by the reclamtion service. The engineers in charge of the reclamation projects reported that the settlers upon irrigated lands were receiving a plentiful supply of water and their crops were in excellent shape.

Pittsburg.—Over 100 negroes, arraigned at the Center Avenue police station on the charge of rioting during a Johnson celebration in the Hill district, went on a rampage in the courtroom during the hearings. "We won't obey no white judges any more!" was the cry of the prisoners. The police rushed the blacks into the jail corridor and locked them up. All were remanded to jail on new charges without bail.

Washington.— Shipbuilding in the United States during the fiscal year just ended shows a marked increase over that of the previous year. This year there were built, according to reports of the Bureau of Navigation, 1502 merchant vessels of 347,025 gross tons, as compared with 1362 vessels of 232,816 gross tons the year before. Of those built during the last year, 333 were barges and canal boats, 1039 were steam vessels and 135 were sailing vessels.

Destroys Hair Germs

Recent discoveries have shown that falling hair is caused by germs at the roots of the hair. Therefore, to stop falling hair, you must first completely destroy these germs. Ayer's Hair Vigor, new improved formula, will certainly do this. Then leave the rest to nature.

Does not change the color of the hair.

Ayer's Formula with each bottle. Show it to your doctor. Ask him about it, then do as he says.

Recent discoveries have also proved that dandruff is caused by germs on the scalp. Therefore, to cure dandruff, the first thing to do is to completely destroy these dandruff germs. Here, the same Ayer's Hair Vigor will give the same splendid results.

VANITY'S COST IN LIFE.

Appeal to heart and conscience alike must have been powerfully made to the many women and fewer men who were beguiled by social curiosity or led by philanthropic interest to examine the collection of garments and of photographs made by the Consumers' League and exhibited last week at the Normal College in New York, says the Churchman of that city. The photographs showed tenement rooms on the east side with men, women and little children working on the garments that hung close by with placards fastened to them telling the few pennies an hour and a garment that these same toilers had received. A large part of the exhibit was the work of the child victims of the sweatshop system. And it was by no means clothing of the cheaper grades that was most conspicuous, but articles made to meet the wishes of the well to do and even the fastidious, such as are sold in the city's most elaborately furnished stores. For dainty feather stitching on a baby's dress a child—herself hardly more than a baby—is paid perhaps 4 cents. Twelve bunches of artificial roses are made for a penny. If the worker is speedy she can earn 60 cents a day. Artificial violets are cheaper. A mother and four children, of ages from 12 to 5, earn together 60 cents a day. Their work may be seen at the exhibit. It is beautiful; but the system that produces it at this cost of young life is an abomination. Hand-sewed men's neckties, intended to be sold at from 50 cents to $1 each, pay the maker 55 cents a dozen. The ultra-respectable black collar for elderly women, retailing for 50 cents, costs the vender for making less than 1½ cents apiece. Is it nothing to those who buy such things that childlife is stitched into their seams? The Consumers' League exists to help these inarticulate workers to help themselves. It can succeed only by enlisting the co-operation of buyers, for whose protection it has provided a label of investigation and approval stating that the garment that bears it is "made under clean and healthful conditions."

THE FREIGHT RATE ADVANCE.

Big Shipper Replies to Editorial Statements in Chicago Daily News.

I desire to call attention to an editorial printed in The Chicago Daily News, May 21, headed "Back Fire on the Shippers," in which you make the following statements: First that my presentation of the case is not candid; second, that what I did have to say was based upon the action of the shippers' conference, and, third, that I had no right to pose as a business man having interests in common with the shippers.

The circulation for signatures of a statement relating to freight rates was, as far as I was concerned, confined to fellow members of the Railway Business Association, and no reference was made to the shippers' conference. I personally attended this conference and have no criticism to make on anything that was done there and none was made or intended by me, but what I "deprecated" was contained in an article sent out by the Illinois Manufacturers' Association, dated May 7, and, as a member of that Association, I personally wrote a letter to each of its individual members, dated May 17. In this I referred to the misleading and unfair statements contained in the circular on May 7 mentioned above, and in doing so I was "candid." I said that the statement "that railroads are rapidly increasing their net earnings" was not true and as to the correctness of my statement I beg to refer to the following:

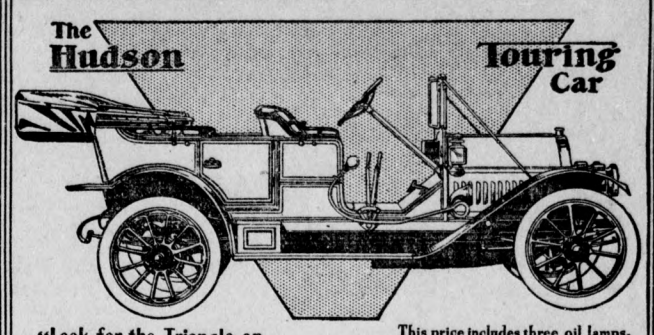
The latest interstate-commerce commission reports show that during the month of March eleven systems, representing every railroad, north and west on a line drawn through Chicago and St. Louis, show an increase in gross earnings for the month of March, of nearly $7,000,000 compared with March, 1909, while the net earnings for the same roads in the same period show a decrease of $965,000; and the interstate commerce commission figures for the ten months, July to March 31, in 1910, as compared with 1909, show an increase in gross of over $50,000,000, while the net earnings of these same systems in the same period of comparison, show a falling off of over $3,500,000. And, as comparatively little of the increases in wages had even gone into effect during March, the railroads must provide some means to increase a revenue that is already decreasing on an increased amount of business, and there is no way for railroads to provide this except by increasing their rates, and surely there is "reason for the need of it."

In the third paragraph on the second page of this Illinois Manufacturers' Association circular of May 7 it is stated that 7.99 per cent was earned on the dividend-paying stock, making no allowance for the 34 per cent of stock on which no dividends were paid. I might, with equal propriety, make the statement that there was no dividend paid on the non-dividend-paying stock. For a clearer definition, the average earnings should be based upon the entire stock, and not upon the best paying portion of it, unless there is some reason why the $2,500,000,000 representing the 34 per cent should not have received any dividends at all.

In the final paragraph of the editorial it is stated that I should not be allowed to pose as a business man, "having no interest in common with the shippers." Inasmuch as my concern shipped an average of 350,000 tons of finished product during 1906 and 1907, and we were obliged to receive more than 350,000 tons of iron to furnish this, plus enormous quantities of coke, coal and other supplies, I can safely claim to have shipped in and out 750,000 tons a year, and as there are no railroads who can afford to haul this material, or any part of it, without having a revenue from it, an increase of 10 cents a ton on my hauling charge would amount to $75,000 and, therefore, I have "business interests in common with other shippers." The 350,000 tons of finished product shipped represented in the neighborhood of $10,000,000. This $10,000,000 represented mostly labor, with the exception of the cost of the ore and coal in the mines. All the balance was made up of wages and profit on the different conditions of the raw material until it was finished product.

My Illinois plants produce 60 per cent of this amount, or $6,000,000 a year. For three years our Chicago plants have not run more than half capacity. Therefore, there was $3,000,000 a year less in distribution because of a corresponding shrinkage in sales. As most of our iron and coal comes from Illinois this $3,000,000 a year was not distributed in Chicago, as would have been the case had we worked on the same output that we did in 1906 and 1907. And a great deal of that $3,000,000 which was not paid was taken out of the business of firms situated in or near Chicago by the non-purchasers from their varied business on the part of the community that would have received the $3,000,000 a year for three years. That is the reason why I have a right, as a business man, to deprecate any unfair or uncalled-for obstacles that are placed in the way of my business and the hundred other varieties of business in this country that are affected by the money put into circulation by the railroads. When it is further considered that my business constitutes but 10 per cent of the cost of a car and that there were nine other units similarly affected, most of which would have been tributary to Chicago, anyone can see how important it is to his individual interests that the railroad companies should have ample funds to make these improvements and purchases, and will realize how comparatively easy it will be to stand a reasonable advance on the freight for any material he will need, if he is receiving increased orders. T. A. GRIFFIN, Chicago.—From Chicago Daily News, May 26th.

The Hudson Touring Car



"Look for the Triangle on the Radiator"

YOU

Still Have an Opportunity

TO PURCHASE A

HUDSON CAR

¶ Our original allotment of 1910 Hudson Cars has been sold, but we recently succeeded in persuading the factory to give us a few extra Touring Cars and Roadsters for early delivery.

Consider Comfort

The Hudson is not only safe and strong, inexpensive to keep, but is big, handsome, comfortable. It is the best looking car in its class. It has good lines, showing clever design and careful proportioning. No car rides any easier—few as easy. Note the foot room in front—the big 18-inch steering wheel—the rake of the steering post—the curved accelerator which fits the foot. These refinements are most appreciated when making a long drive. It is like riding in a parlor car instead of a day coach.

We Want You

to examine the Hudson. Bring an expert with you. The expert will tell you that, while Hudson features and Hudson refinement are not new in the sense of never having been used before, they are new in a car at the Hudson price. He will tell you that the value is all there before your eyes in good, sound, automobile design, material and finish. When you buy a Hudson you get the most for your money—there is no doubt about it. The Hudson goes anywhere and does everything that a high class automobile should do.

We are sincere when we say that the Hudson excels any car at anywhere near the Hudson price. This is a sweeping statement, but it is not merely an advertising claim—it is a proven fact, absolutely true. We know that the Hudson Touring Car at $1300, f. o. b. San Francisco, and the Roadster at $1150, f. o. b. San Francisco, possess greater reliability and efficiency than many cars selling at $500 to $700 more than Hudson prices. If you wish we will show you just wherein this additional value lies. Why not see the Hudson? Ride in it. Put it to any test you can suggest. We have a car at your disposal subject to the most exhaustive demonstration. Can you ask for anything more?

What of the Future? Is there Hope for California?

By J. W. LEWIS

Morally, she had a bad start. The old Spanish occupancy did not set a very high standard. The early gold craze brought largely a set of adventurers. Scramble for money, gambling, drunkenness, lawlessness, disregard of human rights, disregard for human life, disregard of the Sabbath, if not of all the Commandments, so largely prevailed that when society began to be organized and government set up things had a bad start, and the evils could not be remedied in a day. Indeed we feel the effects unto the present time. But we are making progress. The gambling houses are being closed, race-track gambling is being outlawed, and the brutal prize fight,—well, what of that?—Arranged for Emeryville, driven out, moved to San Francisco, driven out of the State. It is reported,—I know not on what authority or how truthfully—that when the Governor was first approached on the subject he should have said "I do not care a continental" etc. But the protests came in from all parts of the State and were so emphatic that he thought more seriously of the matter.

San Francisco wanted the Panama Exposition in 1915 and must have the sanction of the Nation. San Francisco already had a bad reputation, and the prize fight on our National Independence day would not improve that reputation. Rumor has it that Gov. Gillett received such letters and telegrams from influencial men of the Nation as to fully convince him that the fight must be called off.

Let us hope that the Governor was really at heart opposed to such an exhibition in California; that he was also convinced that the better elements of the State were against it and that it were better to listen to these elements; that without any pressure from without the State he would have acted as he did.

But be that as it may, the fact that California has taken this step from which she will not recede indicates that the world does move and California is moving with it.

The fact that since the fight, race riots have occurred in twenty cities of the Nation, accompanied by more or less deaths in each case, is evidence of the specially bad effects of such an exhibition between white and black.

Let us hope the picture shows of the fight will be forbidden generally, as they are now being in many of our cities. Such a scene should not be portrayed before the children of the Nation. The rising tide of conscience and apprehension will assert itself.

If vice in some forms and in some places, is apparently on the run, let us not suppose that it is dead or has given up the fight. It intends to contend for every inch of ground and die,—if die it must,—hard, and by piecemeal.

As "Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty" so everlasting watchfulness and work is the condition of success in this fight. Satan sometimes transforms himself into an Angel of light, and we mast prepare to fight not only in front, but, expect attacks in the rear.

We may sometimes have occasion to pray, "Good Lord save us from our friends." But a long pull, a strong pull, a pull all together, with faith in God and fidelity to the right as God shall give us to see the right, will ensure ultimate success.

The whiskey trust is perhaps the most malignant trust in America. It has received some hard jolts recently. About half the territory of the United States is now, by local County or State option, under prohibition. California has been one of its strongholds and it is letting go here very hard. But the leaven is at work. When I came to California, twelve years ago, the average man would laugh in your face if you suggested the suppression of saloons. Now Santa Clara County is afraid to let the people vote on the matter.

There are going to be some surprises in the not distant future.

A LOCAL OPTION LAW NEEDED

By D. M. GANDIER

Few of our citizens have any clear knowledge of what the limitations upon popular government in California are. Many of them think that if a certain number of voters in any city or county petition the local legislative body to submit the liquor license question to a vote, they are compelled to do so. This is a mistake. In any city having a freeholder's charter with provisions therein for direct legislation such action can be taken, and the council has no discretion about calling the election. They are compelled to call it if the petition is sufficient, and if a majority vote in favor of the ordinance submitted it becomes law without any further action by the council.

Outside of cities which have this provision in their charters the people have no such power. The right to legislate is there lodged wholly in the city trustees and county supervisors. They can regulate the traffic or prohibit it, as they wish, but they cannot be compelled to submit the question to a popular vote; and if they do submit it they are under no legal obligation to abide by the decision of the people.

Government by Minorities

Nearly four years ago the supervisors of San Luis Obispo county submitted the license question to a vote and the decision was overwhelmingly against license, yet about sixty licensed saloons continue to run in that county, and for all these years the people there have had to submit to government by a minority. Del Norte county has had a similar experience, while in several other counties the supervisors are even now hesitating about giving force to the will of the people as expressed at the ballot box. As Wm. J. Bryan says, this is turning our republic into an aristocracy of beer and is subversive of the most fundamental American principles. Ours is supposed to be "a government of the people, by the people and for the people", and when the majority have spoken it should not be possible for any three or five men to overrule that decision.

Court Decisions

Further, it should be made easy for the people to express their preferences. At present it is almost impossible. Recent court decisions have added to the difficulty of securing even an advisory vote. As the law now stands trustees and supervisors will be enjoined upon petition of any tax-payer from putting the license question on the ballot at any regular election. Not long ago the appellate court at San Francisco issued a writ restraining the city clerk of San Jose from putting this question on the ballot. A little later the superior court in Fresno issued a similar restraining order to the county clerk there, and still more recently the superior court at San Bernardino did likewise for the city clerk of Colton.

All experience proves that the simplest and most effective way of dealing with the liquor problem is to let the people vote directly upon it. This comes as near to taking the question out of politics as it is possible to come, and is in full accord with the time honored American principle of majority rule. Under present conditions in California it is almost impossible to secure such a popular vote, and for this reason a local option law is needed—a law which will make it mandatory upon the local legislative body to submit the liquor license question to a vote of the people when a sufficient number ask them to do so, and which will make the vote of the majority binding, so that no license can be issued in any city or county when the sovereign people have decreed otherwise. We need such a law so that the people may rule.

ADAMS A BOOSTER

Former Editor of Press Suggests Plans For Advertising County in the East—Hot in Colorado

Lamar, Colorado, June 21, 1910.

Editor Dick:—

Having an idle moment or so, I will again write you a short letter, the ideas in it being those which have occurred to me several times since leaving California. I still am a booster for California, and always will be, and think maybe I can set forward a few ideas on publicity for the country in the east, which will ultimately do you great good.

Almost everybody knows where San Francisco is, but none seem to have ever heard of San Jose, though they have seen advertisements of the "Famous Santa Clara Valley" without associating one with the other, or even knowing in what part of the state the valley is. The people of California cannot hope to attract the attention of the eastern people unless they keep their names and advantages before them constantly, so that they will, in time, get to associate San Jose, and the "Garden City" as one place. Do you see what I mean? The recent Rose Carnival held in San Jose was considered by you folks as a great advertising feature, but do you know, I do not believe that one paper outside California mentioned the fact. Of course this is merely a guess, but I assume this, knowing that none of the Denver papers mentioned it. I do not believe these papers intentionally left out these items, but I do believe that you folks, or rather the publicity committee, did not make the Carnival the thing it was supposed to be, an advertisement to the east of the wonderful advantages of California.

My idea as to the publicity end of the deal, is to have some GOOD writer, who has the booster spirit, make out several snappy items on the Carnival, or whatever celebration is to be held, have several hundred of each printed and then get a good list of newspapers and send them these items. Almost every representative newspaper, if the articals are live, will be glad to publish them. A few could be sent before the celebration, announcing it, and then a booster article describing the affair could be sent afterwards. Then everybody would hear about it, and would become in time so that they could talk intelligently on the Santa Clara Valley.

I suppose, of course, (though you failed to mention the fact in your paper) that you saw the article on the Prune Industry which appeared some time back, in the Saturday Evening Post? Campbell got a big boost then, and were she in position to follow it up with a good advertisement in that same paper it would benefit her more than she is aware. R. K. Thomas, though his name was not mentioned, figured very prominently in the article, as "a man long in the community and the mainstay of the "Campbell Fruit Growers' Union." If you did not see it, get a back number and read it. It was for Campbell all the way through.

California did herself proud when she washed her hands of the Jeffries-Johnson fight, and many people in this section have been more favorably impressed since the Governor's refusal to permit the bout.

I enjoy the Press very much, and am sure the people of Campbell, are appreciating the boosting you are doing for the community. A newspaper is either the town's biggest booster, or its biggest knocker,—always its biggest advertisement. The subscriber makes the paper, not the fellow who borrows his neighbors copy. You are putting out a fine little weekly, and I hope you succeed at it.

It is very warm here. The thermometer stood at 103 today in the shade, and I am about melted. When the wind blows it is a hot wind off the sand hills, and when it doesn't blow I wish for the breeze that always springs up after dinner in California. One day it is hot, and the next day it is hotter, but I guess I can stand it if the rest can.

Sincerely yours,
M. EARLE ADAMS.
